Breaking Her: An Ever After Novella

People can work out and eat well all they like, and these things still happen. As evident from the above, both FL and IL-7 are pivotal for the generation of normal B cell numbers, a fact highlighted by the complete absence of B cells in mice lacking both cytokines Their combined effect is mostly exerted at different stages of B cell development, with FL being crucial for the generation of early multipotent progenitors and IL-7 for their survival and expansion after B cell commitment Interestingly, however, we have observed that mice over-expressing FL have reduced pre-B cell numbers compared to their wild-type WT counterparts In order to test this hypothesis, and to further study the synergy between FL and IL-7 in promoting lymphoid development in vivowe bred FLtg mice with transgenic mice expressing high amounts of IL-7 hereafter IL7tg and analyzed the F 1 generation.
